

ANDY LEA & MIKE WARD'S BIG STREAM

The lust one to have sex wins!

TOO HOT TO HANDLE (Netflix Originals) ★★★★★
(Netflix from today)

HOW about this for a work of TV genius?

On face value, this new eight-part dating show looks like Netflix's attempt to bring us its own Love Island.

And in a way it is. It certainly has several key things in common with ITV2's hit series, most notably a bunch of sickeningly good looking, lust-driven contestants who aren't particularly keen on wearing clothes.

But unlike Love Island (and here's the really clever bit), there's no actual sex. Yep, seriously, no sex at all.

Or at least there's not meant to be. That's the main rule.

To start with, our 10 contestants, plucked from all over the planet and deposited in this sun-baked Paradise, have only one thing on their mind. But then their Alexa-like robot host, Lana, gathers them for a meeting - at which she alerts them to the full terms and conditions.

"No kissing or sex of any kind," she informs them. "This retreat is to help you gain deeper emotional connections..."

Needless to say, this doesn't go down all that well.

"As if some robot is telling me I can't do anything," protests one of the girls.

"All we want to do is rip each other's clothes off!" cries another.

There's a $100,000 prize up for grabs to begin with.

But money gets deducted whenever someone breaks the strict rules, so they'll be lucky if they're left with enough for their bus fare home. MW

BEHAVE YOURSELVES: The contestants are warned nookie is a no-no

GANG PALS: Celeste, Lovie and Jharrel

Drama with real class

SELAH AND THE SPADES (TBA)

IF you thought Eton's Bullingdon Club was weird, wait till you see what goes on in posh American schools.

This stylish US teen movie, a hit at last year's Sundance Film Festival, is based on the experiences of its first-time director Tayarisha Poe who attended a plummy boarding school in New Jersey.

An opening narration explains how students at the fictional Haldwell prep school have split into five underground factions.

Our anti-heroine Selah Summers (Lovie Simone) is a senior in charge of The Spades, a criminal outfit that supplies the kids with drugs and alcohol. Maxxie (Jharrel Jerome) is her lieutenant.

Selah's greatest rival is Bobby (Ana Mulvoy-Ten), head of the "theatre geeks".

An early scene plays like the meeting of the five families in The Godfather, with Bobby and Selah clashing over an oak table.

Things become even more overwrought, when Selah picks scholarship kid Paloma (Celeste O'Connor) as her heir then refuses to give up power.

Adults may miss the comedy of classic high school movies, but this well-acted Shakespearean drama may earn higher marks from younger viewers. AL

WIN WIN WIN

The Windsors: series 1-3 DVDs

★ HARRY Enfield heads the cast of Channel 4's hilarious royal spoof, all three series of which are now available as a box set (Cert: 12).

And we have six sets up for grabs.

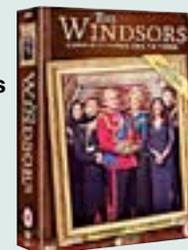

To enter, just answer this question.

Which of the Queen's children does Harry play?

- (A) Prince Charles
- (B) Prince Edward
- (C) Prince Andrew
- (D) Princess Anne

Send us your answer by email, plus your name, address and mobile number, to starcompetitions@dailystar.co.uk.

Entries close at midnight this Sunday, April 19. Normal Daily Star rules apply. The editor's decision is final.

MY FAVOURITE STREAM

Jayde Adams, comedian and presenter:

"Go to Amazon Prime and watch Buffy The Vampire Slayer, then from season three start Angel alongside it. I watch these every year. Buffy spent seven years saving the world and it made me believe, as a woman in the early 2000s, I could achieve anything."

● Jayde hosts Couch Cabaret every Wednesday at 7.30pm on Facebook Live.

SPACE RACE:

Star Joel Kinnaman in For All Mankind

FREE APPLE ORIGINALS

APPLE has made several of its originals available to stream for free - for a while at least - on Apple TV+.

They include creepy thriller SERVANT and period comedy DICKINSON, about American poet Emily.

Also worth a look is space drama FOR ALL MANKIND, starring Joel Kinnaman, which is set in an alternative reality where the Russians beat America to the Moon.

For kids there's SNOOPY IN SPACE, 12 cartoon shorts with the Peanuts gang. MW ★★★★ DIRECTOR Clint Eastwood tells the true story of the security guard who went from hero to zero after foiling a terrorist attack at the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta.

Paul Walter Hauser raises laughs and snuffles as the dim-witted oddball who was cruelly accused of planting the bomb himself. AL

MISBEHAVIOUR (12)

(Digital now)

★★★★ LIKE 1973's Carry On Girls, this Brit flick is inspired by the feminist protest at the 1970 Miss World competition. It takes their complaints a bit more seriously, but crucially retains the farcical elements.

Keira Knightley and Jessie Buckley make us root for the two Women's Lib leaders, while Greg Kinnear raises uncomfortable laughs as flustered host Bob Hope and Gugu Mbatha-Raw shines as the dignified Miss Grenada. AL

BLUE STORY (15)

(Digital now)

★★★★ YOUTUBE sensation Rapman's gangland drama caused controversy when violence spilled into the foyers of the multiplexes.

SKY'S THE LIMIT: Star Wars proves a hit

But parents need to hide all their sharp objects. The film, while rough around the edges, offers a heartfelt warning about the dangers of gang violence. AL

STAR WARS: THE RISE OF SKYWALKER (12)

★★★★ DISNEY plays it pretty safe with a very slick but formulaic finale to its sequel trilogy.

Director JJ Abrams gives curtain calls to all the old favourites (even the dead ones) and hits us with a familiar mix of shootouts, dogfights and lightsaber duels.

The plot sends Rey (Daisy Ridley) on the hunt for a gadget that will lead the Rebels to resurrected Emperor Palpatine (Ian McDiarmid). AL

LIKE A BOSS (15)

(Digital now)

★★ TWO talented comic actors struggle with a feeble script in this comedy. Mel (Rose Byrne) and Mia (Tiffany Haddish) are best pals who run a small make-up firm.

Their friendship is tested when Salma Hayek's shrill cosmetics mogul tries take over their business. AL
